

The ROI of Automation in Cell-based Therapy Bioprocessing and Supply Chains

Phaciliate and Biolacuna have produced a cutting-edge report, which includes the results, data and analysis of an industry wide survey, plus interviews with world leading experts.

Here's a snapshot of some of the findings and themes within the report.

BUY THE REPORT

80%

recommend automating process development

74%

agreed or strongly agreed that regulatory compliance is more easily attained with automated CBT bioprocessing

56%

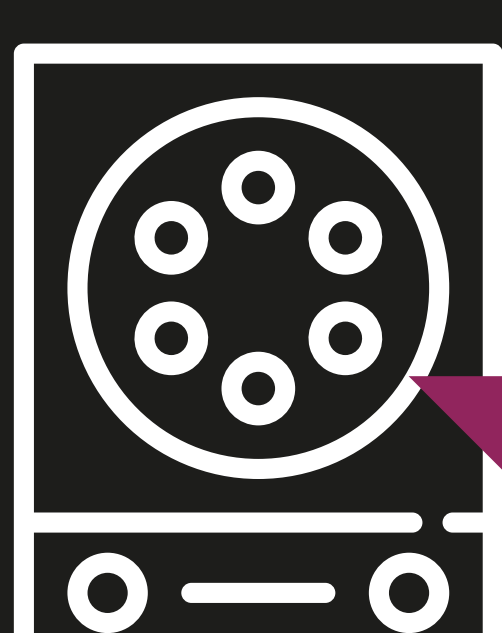

agreed automation should be adopted as early as possible in development process for a new CBT

One of the biggest advantages of automation is an 'improvement in product quality'

20%

would implement automation at 1 L in the scale up process

20-30%

Companies implementing automation saw a 20-30% decrease in volume reduction and washing requirements

Full data sets, results and analysis are all included in the report

BUY THE REPORT